Dear friends,

Greetings from IAP Research in Child Health Society, a sub specialty group of IAP! We are happy to invite you to this very unique conference focusing on the research in child health. We are trying to develop this conference as the top destination for presenting the research, learning from the researchers, authors, scientists, editors, research administrators, and funding agencies. This will be near perfect blend of the researchers from various fields of child health research from molecular research, clinical research, behavioural research to implementation science research. Enough opportunities will be available to undergraduate and post-graduate medical and nursing students, young researchers and the faculty to share their research amongst the fellow researchers and the various agencies involved in the conduct and the governance of research in child health in India. Several prizes await you!

Join us during the best weather of year in New Delhi!

Looking forward to your participation,
